Summer Teens Indigenous Scholarship Application

Continuing Studies at Emily Carr University of Art + Design is pleased support young artists by providing access to high-quality art education and fostering a creative community. We are pleased to offer students of Indigenous ancestry tuition scholarships to attend the Summer Teens Programs and further their educational studies in art, media and design. Scholarship applications can only be submitted when Summer Teens programs are open for registration. Scholarship awards are applied to tuition only, and may not be used towards transportation, meals, or housing costs.

Scholarship Application Eligibility Criteria

The Summer Teens Indigenous Scholarships are available to students of Indigenous ancestry. Applications will be judged by a Selection Committee of experienced arts educators, artists, designers and creative practitioners on the quality of individual application submissions.

Scholarships are allocated to each Summer Teens program as follows:

- 2x Scholarships awarded to students in the Junior Arts Institute
- 3x Scholarships awarded to students in the Summer Institute for Teens

Evaluation Criteria: Attributes the Selection Committee is looking for include:

- Curiosity and open-mindedness
- Capacity for collaboration, experimentation and exploration
- Engagement with a range of media and a love of material exploration
- A passion for art and design
- Commitment to attending all scheduled sessions of their Summer Teens program of choice

Submission: All applications must be completed and submitted online using the Teen Programs registration application form. Please note, incomplete submissions will not be considered. For a full list of studio offerings in each program, please visit ecuad.ca/teens.

Deadline: Saturday, March 1, 2025
